No 'possibility' of any fuel shortage: Hammad

Minister for Energy Hammad Azhar on Friday rejected media reports about 'possibility' of any fuel shortage in the country, saying sufficient stocks of petroleum products were available to meet consumers' needs. "Contrary to media reports, there is no possibility of shortage of petroleum products as at present the country has 27 days of diesel and 28 days of petrol reserves, which are at the highest level as compared to last many years," he tweeted.

World likely to face new inflow of Afghan refugees: Munir

A top Pakistani diplomat has underscored the urgency of addressing the current humanitarian and economic crisis in Afghanistan, saying without its resolution Pakistan and the world may face the prospect of the inflow of millions of Afghan refugees escaping hunger and starvation. "Pakistan will not be able to accommodate them," Ambassador Munir Ahrani made it clear during a virtual discussion organized by the UNHCR.
